Greenington Celebrates 20 Years of Sustainable Excellence

Tukwila, WA — March 20, 2024

Greenington, a trailblazer in sustainable furniture design, proudly marks two decades of commitment to environmental stewardship. Since its inception in 2004, Greenington has been at the forefront of crafting exquisite, high-quality furniture using one of the Earth's most renewable resources: bamboo.

A Remarkable Journey:

Founding Vision: Greenington's president and founder Yang Lin, with over 20 years of experience in manufacturing bamboo products, embarked on a mission to create his own line of solid bamboo furniture. His expertise in working with this eco-friendly, rapidly renewable material laid the foundation for Greenington's enduring success.

Sustainability at the Core: Greenington's journey is guided by unwavering principles. The company adheres to strict international standards, ensuring that every piece of furniture reflects both style and sustainability. With a zero-waste manufacturing process, Greenington sets an example for responsible production.

Enduring Beauty: Greenington's fine bamboo furniture stands out for its timeless elegance. Each piece is a testament to the natural beauty of bamboo, meticulously crafted to enhance any living space.

"Our journey has been one of purpose and passion," says Yang Lin, president of Greenington. "We celebrate not just our achievements but also the collective impact we've had on the environment." "Bamboo is more than a material; it's a symbol of resilience and renewal," adds the founder. "Our commitment to bamboo reflects our commitment to a greener, more harmonious world."

Key Milestones:

Zero-Waste Approach: By minimizing waste and maximizing resource utilization, Greenington exemplifies what it means to be a truly sustainable brand.

ISO Certification: Greenington's factory is certified ISO 9001 and 14001, underscoring its commitment to quality and environmental responsibility.

Long Term Member of the Sustainable Furnishings Council: Greenington's dedication to sustainability extends beyond its own practices. As a member of the council, it actively contributes to advancing sustainable practices across the industry.

As Greenington enters its third decade, it remains dedicated to innovation, sustainability, and creating furniture that enriches lives while treading lightly on the planet. Here's to another 20 years of beauty, craftsmanship, and environmental consciousness!
