HICKORY WHITE BLENDS HERITAGE AND MODERNITY IN NEW SPRING INTRODUCTIONS

HIGH POINT, N.C. – This April, Hickory White will showcase pieces with organic curves, natural materials, and unique finishes. These pieces are rooted in tradition yet embrace modern aesthetics. The subtle nods to tradition provide familiarity without the feeling of formality. With introductions designed to ground, comfort, and inspire, this season is all about creating rooms that feel as personal as they are timeless.

Gentle silhouettes create a sense of movement and fluidity, while textured materials provide a richness to the collection. Marble surfaces, hand-painted details, and distinctive finishes add artistry and personality to each piece. Rich, natural wood tones bring warmth and comfort through each piece. Classic silhouettes and familiar materials are reimaged with a contemporary twist, striking a balance between heritage craftsmanship and modern style.

“Hickory White continues to add one-of-a-kind pieces to our Revival 81 collection,” said India Miller, vice president of creative for Hickory White and Sherrill. “Unique, artistic, and compelling details showcase the endless capabilities of our design team and the talented artisans who bring to life all the custom Hickory White furniture. Thoughtfully curated pieces along with the endless custom capabilities allows designers to create their personalized look.”
