Lorraine Mulligan has been working in the interior design field for the past several decades, in both the residential and commercial sector. Her extensive experience in design lead her to develop a line of upholstery that can be customized to fit a variety of interior projects. Mulligan was raised in England and Belgium immigrating to the United States in the mid 80s. The influence of her early years abroad can be seen in the intricate tailored details of each piece. Each piece is produced in partnership with co-owner, Ashley Love, whose expertise in logistics ensures a product of the highest quality.
