Wexel Art Announces Partnership with CleanHub

Austin, Texas-In an effort to increase their sustainability pledge, Wexel Art is the first Art + Frame Manufacturer to partner with CleanHub, a Eco-Conscious organization whose mission is to prevent plastic waste from reaching the Ocean.

CleanHub has built a waste management system that enables a “global circular economy” for non-recyclable and valuable plastics that are not currently being collected. CleanHub has partnered with known brands such as: Vuori, SimpliHome and now Wexel Art which has committed to offset 700lbs of Ocean bound plastics.

Wexel Art, an organization dedicated to preserving the planet and committed to do their part to reduce plastic waste is excited to partner with CleanHub with the collection goal of 700lbs in high-impact regions across South-East Asia while creating sustainable jobs and ensuring safe work conditions for Employees at their collection hubs.

The process to ensure this goal is met is to collect the plastic which is then sorted at the hub and placed into recyclables and non-recyclables and the latter is sent to co-processing, entering the loop again as an “alternative fuel” for Cement Plants that would otherwise utilize coal, reducing the carbon footprint.

Both Morgan Dougherty along with Natasha McRee (co founders) of Wexel Art stated: “Through our partnership with CleanHub, Wexel Art strives to be environmentally conscious in every facet of our business, the way we run our offices, develop products, work with our factories and support organizations that truly make a difference” in addition to our newly formed partnership with CleanHub, we are also partners with “The Sustainable Furnishing Council”
